Piano - Mother and Son

"Edward has made brilliant progress since he started learning with the Arts Academy. He has been greatly encouraged and enthused by his professor, who seems to have a natural empathy which inspires music - making."
Mrs Julia Saville, London

"Lessons are fun, and my professor exchanges good work for down to earth conversations. He is a professor of superb quality, and if you don't believe me - ask my Mum! I am always allowed to explore different areas, concentrating on Jazz and Blues, which my professor then connects with theory and aural without me even realising!"
Phillip Saville, Age 15, London

Clarinet - Mother and Daughter

"The MusicHour™ was an instant hit with my 7 year old daughter. She has developed a great rapport with her professor and is learning steadily, no doubt motivated by the professor's enthusiastic but gentle teaching style"
Mrs Maggie Langdon, London

"Clarinet is really fun, and I like how I'm taught because we always play a different piece each lesson with an accompaniment, and then move onto musical games, which I like even more, especially when I win!"
Charlotte-May Langdon, Age 7, London

Violin/G.C.S.E. Music Support – Father and Daughter

"Before I had heard about the Arts Academy, my daughter didn't have any G.C.S.E. Music support and I had to travel for an hour across London so that she could take her violin lesson. Fortunately, I now have a violin professor who visits us at home each week and incorporates G.C.S.E. support into the MusicHour™. Thank you for providing me with such an excellent service."
Mr Ronald Smith, London

"The Arts Academy has allowed me to develop my musical abilities within the comfort of my own home. I find my violin and G.C.S.E. MusicHour™ exciting and fun. It has given me the confidence to take my skills a step further and I would recommend the Arts Academy to anyone considering taking music tuition to support school studies."
Jenny Smith, Age 16, London

Voice and piano - Mother and Daughter

"Ever since Camille started to learn with the Arts Academy, she has grown incredibly strong willed and passionate about music. She knows when it is the time of the week to have fun - and nobody will stop that!"
Mrs Tebby Khutsaame, London

"I think my MusicHour™ is fun and I love singing. I also like the music card game my professor plays with me when I try hard."
Camille Khutsaame, Age 5, London

The most significant opinion in the world... the pupil's!

Katya Thomas announced after her Flute MusicHour™:

Learning an instrument is like climbing a hill. Well, I think I've just got to the top! I love playing the flute; I'm going to do more practice now... (and she did!) Katya recently added: "When I had my teacher at school, the lesson was only half an hour but it felt like an hour as it was so boring... Now my lesson is an hour but it only feels like half an hour because I love it!"

Her Mother, Elaine Waterson comments:

I hope the Arts Academy goes from strength to strength - from what I've seen so far, you deserve to be hugely successful as a business. I can see that she's all lit up from her session!

We love it when everyone is happy
